

FOR MOST OF HIS CAREER, PATRICK UNGASHICK has built and led companies that provide advisory services to business owners and leadership teams. An entrepreneur himself, he has been a founder or leader in a half dozen companies in industries including investment banking, private equity, wealth management, and exit strategy consulting.

In addition to A Day for Leadership, Patrick is the author of two books helping business owners achieve successful exits, Dance in the End Zone and A Tale of Two Owners. An award-winning author and speaker, Patrick has conducted hundreds of workshops for business owners and leadership teams on how to maximize company value and prepare for exit.

MORE REQUESTED TOPICS

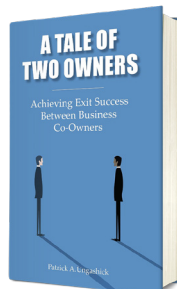

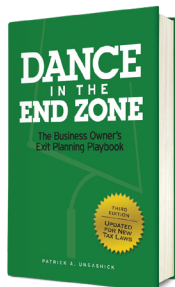

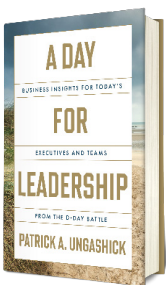

For business owner audiences:

- "Dance in the End Zone" – Preparing for a successful exit
- "The Growth Myth" – How to maximize value in your company

For business leaders and teams:

- "A Day for Leadership" – Powerful leadership stories from D-Day relevant to today's high-stakes business challenges
- "Success Starts with Succession" – Succession planning strategies for today's companies

BOOKS

SAMPLE SPEAKING TESTIMONIALS

"In terms of dollar value, I can't think of any other speaker who has had greater impact on our business owners."

—LOU ALLEGRA, group chair, Vistage

VISTAGE

"Patrick's approach is excellent and his content has something for everyone. Strongly recommend Patrick!"

—MATT SAURI, learning chair, Entrepreneurs' Organization

"Your workshop was certainly a 'home run' in our estimation and via the feedback we received from members!"

—CHERYL CLARK, director of events, National Association for Surface Finishing (NASF)

NASF

"Patrick was the highest rated speaker of our conference! Everyone sat up, took notice and understood—the takeaways were invaluable and beneficial."

—RENEE MERKER, director of communications and events, PMPA

